VARIANCE STANDARDS (USE VARIANCE)

Applications for use variances must be based on alleviating a clearly demonstrable hardship, as opposed to a special privilege of convenience sought by the owner. Furthermore, the hardship must be peculiar to the land or building and must not generally apply to land throughout the neighborhood. An example of a property that may potentially have a case for a used variance is a corner store in a predominantly residential neighborhood. If the building has large plate glass windows, a parking lot and loading docks in the rear, it would be extremely costly to convert the building to residential uses to comply with existing zoning regulations.

VARIANCE STANDARDS (AREA VARIANCE)

Applications for area variances must be based on some extraordinary topographic condition or other physical condition inherent in the parcel (for example: exceptional narrowness, shallowness, shape or area). This condition must prohibit or unreasonably restrict the use of the land and/or building. One example of special condition: A utility right-of-way cutting through the rear half of several properties within a larger neighborhood limiting the buildable area of those properties, thereby requiring variances for rear and side yard setbacks for those particular property owners to construct new garages or sheds.

DESCRIPTION OF HARDSHIP (describe the features or conditions of the property that restrict reasonable use of the property under current zoning regulations)

Describe how the requested variance will not alter the character of the larger neighborhood or impact adjacent properties:
